Member-Curated Education at RCon™!

RCon™, a new conference by SWANA, announced a new education lineup featuring curated content by the community through a rigorous call for proposals and review panel process. This approach ensures that the sessions are highly relevant, impactful, and aligned with the needs and interests of our community.

Join us November 12-15, in Columbus, and participate in more than [insert number] different education sessions. Topics range from [insert list of topics that relate to your organization], and the conference covers a comprehensive range of important topics facing the industry. It will offer fresh perspectives and innovative solutions helping attendees stay ahead in the ever-evolving world of waste and resource management.
