Frequently Asked Questions

What is expected from a host organization? There is no cost to host a YSEALI PFP Fellow. Host organizations will be asked to appoint a dedicated “U.S. placement host” from among their team who is a) willing to supervise their Fellow and liaise with program implementers, and b) interested in working with their Fellow to develop their professional goals both in the United States and their home country. American Councils and Institute Partners will work with host organizations to develop meaningful and mutually beneficial fellowship experiences.

What kinds of tasks can a Fellow perform? It's important to know that Fellows are not interns and come with extensive experience and expertise, meaning they should take on higher level tasks. Fellows can perform a wide variety of tasks such as project development and implementation, stakeholder meetings, research, communications and media, and other tasks that may be required of your office. Program implementers can work with hosts to design a meaningful and mutually beneficial program based on the Fellow's background and the host's needs.

What organizations have hosted fellows in the past? Past Fellows have been placed with large multi-national companies, fast-paced start-ups, grassroots NGOs, government offices, and other dynamic organizations within their sector or a complimentary sector. Placement organizations have included MassChallenge, UC San Diego Rady School of Management, Heifer International, Deloitte, Chicago Mayor's Office of People with Disabilities, Boston Youth Service Network, PeaceTech Lab, Starbucks, and many more.

How are Fellows selected? Fellows are selected through a competitive nationwide search that involves an extensive written application and in-person interviews with American Councils and U.S. Embassy staff.

Will Fellows speak English well enough to perform tasks such as writing memos or answering phone calls? Yes. While a Fellow's English may not be perfect, it will meet strict standards that ensure success in a professional English-speaking environment.

How much will Fellows know about U.S. systems and our office? American Councils prepares pre-departure orientations and reading materials on various topics related to U.S. offices and expectations for the fellowship. In addition, we require Fellows and hosts to be in contact prior to their arrival to the United States, so that hosts can disseminate additional information and assign readings or tasks to make the most of their time on program.

How will Fellows be monitored? American Councils and Institute Partners use online surveys, email, and phone calls to monitor each Fellow's progress on program and resolve any issues, if needed. We are always available to support both U.S. placement hosts and Fellows during the program.

What are the obligations of a host? We'd love to have a Fellow, but cannot commit to doing a lot of extra work in order to do so. Hosting should not be seen as an obligation but rather a unique opportunity. Past hosts have enjoyed the international perspective Fellows brought to their workplace and commented that Fellows were able to successfully perform “real” work. American Councils will prepare Fellows so that they can “hit the ground running” and will help guide hosts in their preparation for the Fellow's arrival.

What types of Reciprocal Exchanges will Fellows and Americans create? This is entirely up to the Fellow and U.S. placement host and based on their professional areas of focus and interest. Potential ideas can range from an entrepreneurship bootcamp, a civic participation workshop, meetings with government officials, a financial literacy education programs, a workshop on women's business participation, or a capacity building workshop for young business leaders, among others.
